

CALLING ALL TEACHERS!

SUMMER CAMP

... SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

How do we make sense of the world around us—AND the revised provincial curriculum?

Summer Camp is a unique opportunity for teachers to explore the core competencies together and translate them into arts-based experiences for young people! This year, we're focusing on the Core Competency of Social Responsibility through arts-integrated learning. Two full days of workshops facilitated by expert educators and artists will prepare you to support students in demonstrating interdependence, empathy, and more!

DAY ONE will focus specifically on how to meet the social responsibility competencies through Honouring & Implementing the First Peoples Principles of Learning.

On DAY TWO, we'll work with educators and artists to talk about how to implement Arts Integration as Trauma-Informed Practice.

Can't make both days? Not to worry—you can sign up for the day that is the most useful to your classroom in the upcoming year!

All workshops are ideal for K-12 teachers of all subjects.

SPACES ARE LIMITED. SIGN UP BEFORE AUGUST 1ST!

$150 per day or $250 for both days

Early Bird until July 3: $125/day or $200 for both days

AUGUST 21 + 22, 2018 AT ARTSTARTS, 808 RICHARDS ST, VANCOUVER

TUESDAY, AUGUST 21

Sínulhkay and Ladders with Michelle Nahanee

Join us for an experiential workshop grounded in Squamish ways of knowing. Participate in a life-size board game that promotes the Squamish practice of Chen chen stway (holding each other up), with the purpose of bettering Indigenous to non-Indigenous relations in professional settings. Each journey is its own; let's make brave space for renewed understandings and decolonizing practices.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22

Skillshare: Preventing Teacher Burnout through the Arts with Leah Horlick and guests

It's real, it's serious, and we hardly ever talk about it. How can teaming up with an artist and integrating the arts into your classroom help with burnout? In this collaborative workshop, we'll share strategies and develop skills for prevention and recovery.

Movement is for Every Body with All Bodies Dance

From July 2018 to Spring 2019, our ArtStarts gallery will be entirely focused on movement! Get acquainted with our upcoming installation through this innovative workshop. Looking for ways to integrate movement and interaction to your classroom and lesson plans? Curious about trauma-informed ways to support students of all bodies as they explore movement? Scared to teach dance, and not sure how you'll meet the requirements of the revised curriculum? This is the workshop for you!

TUESDAY, AUGUST 21 + WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22

Collaboration Blocks with Leanne Ewen

Each day will end with a collaborative group dialogue facilitated by educator Leanne Ewen. These collaborative blocks are great tools to help you connect all of the day's learnings with Core Competencies and Big Ideas. Walk away with examples of how to apply your learnings immediately in your classrooms and gain resources to help guide you throughout the school year.

Leanne Ewen is a wife, mother, grandmother, musician, composer and teacher. She began her teaching career 28 years ago in elementary schools and has also had adventures at SFU as a Faculty Associate in the Fine and Performing Arts module for two years, and as Coordinator of the Community Learning Initiative for two years. Leanne has taken leadership in the area of professional development her entire career and has been a passionate advocate for the arts in every way she can think of. Currently, Leanne is working as a District Curriculum Facilitator K-12 in the New Westminister School District, supporting teachers with the implementation of the revised BC Curriculum. In her personal life, Leanne is the President of the Arts Council of New Westminister. She also composes music for the harp and piano, has taken up watercolour painting and spends as much time as she possibly can with her five adorable grandchildren.
